This winter there was a section-wide study of selections from Rudolf Steiner's "Leading Thoughts" deepening our understanding of technology and spirituality. This is one of the core themes youth groups have taken up for the year, which we will return to at the Co-workers' gathering in May. In preparation for the May gathering, we are also turning our attention to the founding of our Section.

In 1924, one hundred years ago, the Section for the Spiritual Striving of the Youth was established as part of the Independent School of Spiritual Science. Maria Röschl-Lehrs was asked to become the first leader.

We want to encourage youth groups and projects around the world to be a part of studying and discussing selections of her writings in the coming months.

We will host a local study at the Goetheanum, starting on February 27th at the Youth Section House, working with "The Second Man in Us" (Vom zweiten Menschen in Uns) by Maria Röschl-Lehrs.

Write us an email if you want to join, either for the group at the Goetheanum or from anywhere you are!
