Theater for the art of life

EVENING COURSE WITH
GOSHA GORGOSHIDZE

Wednesdays

26 February, 5, 12 and 19 March

18:00 – 20:00 at the Goetheanum

In this series of improvisation and theater workshops we will search for the qualities of intuition, the experience of freedom and playfulness as an ability that develops our feeling for life. We will work to find and to listen to the sources which inspire us.

The workshop is for anyone looking for practical answers to inner questions and who wants to connect Anthropology with their own practice. No previous experience in theatre or performing arts is required. Everyone is welcome to join!

40CHF (all sessions) | 12CHF per session

payable in cash before the session. If you cannot pay this amount, we ask for a donation according to your financial possibilities.

German/English

Registration: studium@goetheanum.ch

Maximum number of participants: 30

Send us an email telling us a bit about you and why you want to participate. You will receive then further details about how to join and prepare for the course.
