

Owen Barfield, Rudolf Steiner and Aesthetic Individuality

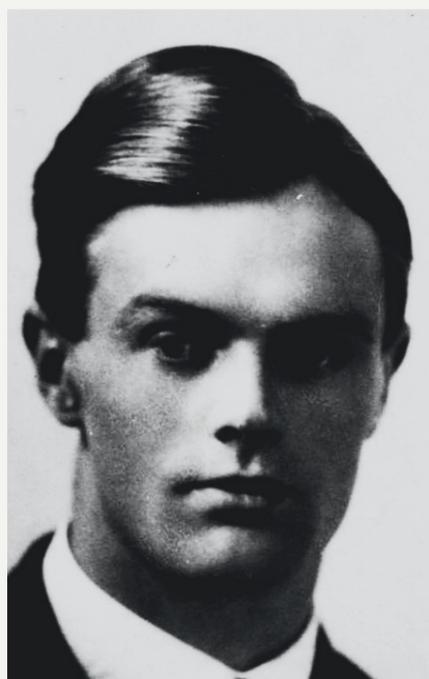

A Presentation and Discussion with Nathaniel Williams and Ashton Arnoldy

Online Event - Friday April 10 - 20:00 CET

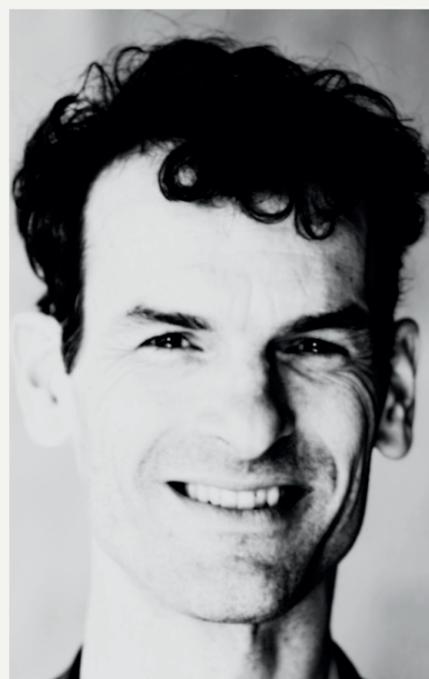

Ashton Arnoldy joined Nathaniel Williams for a post-doctoral research project through the Youth Section at the Goetheanum in Switzerland titled "An Aesthetic Education for the Anthropocene: Art, Ecological Consciousness and Associative Economics". This involved explorations of how Schiller's notion of aesthetic education, Goethe's delicate empiricism and Rudolf Steiner's associative economics relate to pressing issues today. Before coming to the Goetheanum, Ashton completed his PhD on Owen Barfield's portrayal of the evolution of consciousness and Barfield's connection to anthroposophy. Nathaniel and Ashton will have a public conversation about key ideas from the last months of work, a forthcoming book resulting from it, and how it all relates to Barfield's approach to anthroposophy and his presentation of the evolution of consciousness.

Ashton Arnoldy

Owen Barfield

Nathaniel Williams

Rudolf Steiner

*This event will take place online, via Zoom.
To join, visit the Youth Section Website shortly before the start of the event: youthsection.org*