Autumn Term

Anthropology: What does it mean to be human?

5th October - 18th December 2026

On campus / Full time

Dornach, Switzerland

Book Study:

Theosophy, Rudolf Steiner

During the first term, you will engage in an interdisciplinary program that introduces you to the foundations of Rudolf Steiner's work.

Morning lessons focus on the study of Rudolf Steiner's book "Theosophy. An introduction to the spiritual process in the human being and the cosmos". Weekly seminars and artistic classes support you in delving into the essentials of Anthroposophy expressed in the texts. While on campus, you also have the opportunity to connect to the Goetheanum and the School of Spiritual Science, attend conferences and other events.

Winter Term

Freedom, Knowledge & Responsibility

11th January – 26th March 2027

On campus / Full time

Dornach, Switzerland

Book Study:

The Philosophy of Freedom, Rudolf Steiner

Can the process of knowledge and the concept of human freedom grounded in Anthroposophy help us address contemporary issues? During this term, by working together with your fellow students and mentors, you will attempt to build an understanding of current challenges through the study of Rudolf Steiner's book "The Philosophy of Freedom".

This dynamic trimester includes a guided class trip to Chartres Cathedral (France)*, artistic classes, and complementary activities on-campus, such as the annual Agriculture Conference at the Goetheanum.

*The costs for class trips are not included in the tuition fee.

Spring Term

Metamorphoses

12th April – 25th June 2027

On campus / Full time

Dornach, Switzerland

Book Study:

Anthroposophical Leading Thoughts, Rudolf Steiner

During this trimester, students are required to undertake an individual or group study project that connects the program's content with their research interests. Students are free to choose their project topic, which must include a practical application.

One of the highlights of the Spring Term is the class trip to Weimar and Buchenwald Memorial site, focused on Rudolf Steiner's years in the city where Goethe lived most of his adult life.

*The costs for class trips are not included in the tuition fee.
